Château de Montpoupon

Nestled in a harmonious natural environment, the chateau was built between the 13th and 15th centuries. Visitors are welcome to explore the chateau on their own or follow an audio tour. The outbuildings house the Veneur museum and its unique hunting collection.

The Ambacia & the Gabare : Another way to explore... by boat

Departing from Chisseaux (just a few kilometres from Chenonceaux), you can take a cruise aboard the "Ambacia" or the "Gabare". You will sail along the river Cher for around an hour, passing hillsides covered with forests and vineyards. A particular highlight of the trip will be passing under one of the arches of the famous château de Chenonceau.

NATURE - HERITAGE

On the banks of the river Cher

Chenonceaux

2h - 8 km - Easy

TO FIND YOUR WAY

STRAIGHT ON

CHANGE OF DIRECTION

WRONG WAY

- 5 Woodland
First, continue your walk between the chateau's forest and the river Cher. The river used to be the border between free France and the occupied territory during the Second World War. The resistance even used the chateau as a crossing point.
- 6 Dam
Before reaching the bridge, you pass one of the 16 needle dams on the river Cher which becoming a canal between Saint Aignan-sur-Cher and Tours, a 62 km stretch. The dam system is named Poirée after its inventor and consists of a row of beams 2 to 4 metres in length placed vertically side-by-side to shut off the flow of water. Walk under and then over the bridge to get back to the right bank, in the direction of Chenonceau.
- 7 Lockhouse
Pass between the maison éclusière (lock-keeper's house) and the lock. The transport of goods for trade was at its height between 1845 and 1920. Coal, stone, steel, oil, wood, sugar and wine were the main goods transported by flat-bottomed boats. They were hauled by horses, mules and sometimes men.
- 8 La Varenne
Continue on this path for around 1 km. Turn left and then right and follow the hedge-lined path. You are walking along the Varenne de Chenonceau, an uncultivated piece of land where livestock once grazed and game roamed.
- 9 Park
You will see the surrounding wall of the park level with a canal fed by the river Cher. In the 16th century the park was comprised of ornamental gardens, ponds, an orchard, a vegetable garden, mulberry trees, a real tennis court and a green garden created by Catherine de Médicis. Turn left to reach the railway line which you cross by turning left then right.

Chenonceau is known for its world famous chateau but the village has many other riches to discover.

- 1 Start
The blue waymarked circuit starts from the car park near the tourist office on the D 40 road. Follow this road to the right and pass the 12th century Saint-Jean-Baptiste church, the 16th century maison des Pages and the town hall (Mairie). Notice that the village of Chenonceaux is spelled with an X unlike the chateau of Chenonceau.
- 2 Railway line
Cross the railway line near the Gothic style crossing-keeper's house and then turn left between the chateau's car park and the Tours-Lyon railway line. Continue on this path for around 1 km. You will pass a picnic spot and a play area.

- 3 Cher River
At the stop sign, cross the road and then follow the road to the end, then turn right to get to the bridge, climb the stairs up onto the bridge. Descend the bridge to the right to follow the river Cher on the left bank (the side of a river on the left when you are looking in the direction it flows).
- 4 Chateau
In front of you stands the most visited private monument in France. This French Renaissance work of art comprises a long covered gallery which rests on the arches of a bridge. It was first built by Katherine Briçonnet and then embellished by Diane de Poitiers and Catherine de Médicis. The château des Dames is worth a visit for its unique and rich collections

- 10 Vineyard
Walk along the D 40 road. The red and white waymarkers on part of the circuit indicate that you have been walking on the GR 41 which links Tours to the Mont-Dore. As you approach the village, notice the vines on your right. These vines produce Touraine-Chenonceaux AOC wine. Pass the tourist office. This is the end of the walk.
