5 GOOD REASONS TO VISIT ORLÉANS MÉTROPOLE AS A GROUP

1 / A MULTIFACETED DESTINATION

Orléans Métropole relies on both its modernity and the authenticity of its historical, cultural and natural heritage. It displays the beauty of its half-timbered facades and its parks rich in historically intense horticultural activity, as well as its well-equipped quays, and offers some great discoveries for the taste buds! Metropolitan life is punctuated throughout the year by numerous major international events.

2 / THE METROPOLIS ON THE ROYAL RIVER

The Loire, the largest river in France, crosses Orléans from east to west and offers a permanent spectacle. Listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 2000, the 280 km of the Loire Valley is an exceptional site for its biological diversity as well as its historical and cultural wealth.

3 / ORLÉANS, A GREEN METROPOLIS

Built on rich soil, Orléans Métropole has a remarkable tree-growing heritage, as well as a horticultural tradition crowned by the presence of rose, peony and clematis. These riches, scattered throughout the heart of many parks and gardens, are an invitation to stroll and delight the senses.

4 / THE CITY OF JOAN OF ARC

Joan of Arc and the French troops would drive the English out from the siege of Orléans on 8 May 1429. The city has always kept the memory of her arrival alive through the medallions that line the streets, on the stained glass windows of the cathedral, in painting, in sculpture... Don't miss the Joan of Arc Festival, a unique event in France, and classified since 2018 as Intangible Cultural Heritage.

5 / A METROPOLIS THAT REACHES OUT

1 hour from Paris, Orléans Métropole is an ideal starting point to visit the famous châteaux of the Loire Valley and the Loiret. Some are less than 1 hour's drive away, such as Châteaux de Sully-sur-Loire, Meung-sur-Loire, La Ferté-Saint-Aubin, Chamerolles, Chambord or Blois.
